Hockey Notes

Langdon 1—Arrowwood 1
The Arrowwood Hockey Club journeyed to Langdon Friday evening last to try conclusions with the team there once again. A previous game resulted in a draw and both teams were anxious for victory.

About the middle of the first period Arrowwood scored a goal but this was ruled off side. Shortly afterwards McCullough put Arrowwood in the lead until about three minutes before the end of the game when Barron checked beautifully and scored for Langdon to tie the score. The game was unproductive of good hockey due to the heavy snowfall which made the puck difficult to hand.

Turner Valley 2—Arrowwood 3

An interesting game of hockey was played at the Turner Valley rink last week-end when the two undefeated teams of Turner Valley and Arrowwood took the ice to try conclusions. The Arrowwood boys seemed to show the effects of their long trip and were playing far below usual form; while the high-school boys seemed to be disorganized as well. McCullough and Norton combined to score Arrowwood's first goal, and the Valley boys pressed hard to score their first goal. Mason put Arrowwood ahead again and then McCullough scored for Arrowwood. Just before the game ended the high school boys scored again to end the game 3-2.

Turner Valley 3—Arrowwood 2

Playing an all-star aggregation from Turner Valley and strengthened by the aid of Vesser from the Okotoks Indians.

School Notes

The Junior Red Cross Society of Grades 5 and 6 held its bi-monthly meeting on Friday, Jan. 29th.

The following committees were elected:

Health Committee
Erma Richards
Dorothy Hesketh
Editors
Jessie Jones
Annie Dumka
Programme Committee
Geneva Culp
Grace Burger
Thelma Brown

A very nice programme was arranged for the afternoon, by Lester Sawyer, Allen Cochrane and John Oliver.

Play—The Wrestling Match
Recitation by Dale Williams
Dance by Dorothy Hesketh
Jokes by Issie Royer
God Save Our King was then sung by the room. It was moved by Dorothy Hesketh and seconded by Lester Sawyer that the meeting adjourn.

On Monday the High School students were given a pleasant surprise on learning that Mr. Johnston was ill. We do not mean that Mr. Johnston's sickness was pleasant, but that the idea of the chance to catch up in back work was pleasant. In

Vulcan Suffers a $30,000 Fire

Damage amounting to around $30,000 was caused by fire here Friday evening, when the store of Buck and Howson was almost completely destroyed.

Located in the heart of the business district, the blaze was attacked by the full force of the town brigade, but the flames made steady progress, and for some time threatened to spread to several large stores in the neighborhood. Fire fighters succeeded, however in confining damage to the brick structure, which was valued at $10,000.

The estimated loss also included stock valued at $20,000 with about half the total covered by insurance. An overheated stove is believed to have caused the outbreak.

Arrowwood Curlers Do Well at the High River Bonspiel

The following Arrowwood rinks attended the High River Bonspiel Monday: Hales skip, Chrestenson 3rd, McIrvine 2nd, J. P. Beagle lead; Hesketh skip, Mackie Jr. 3rd, R. Culp 2nd, Dahl lead. Each rink played five games and lost one.

Hales' rink won second prize in the first competition and Hesketh won first prize in the second competition.

In order to complete the draw on Monday, Hales and Grey Miles, undefeated after the 9 o'clock draw, defaulted their games in the second competition. This concession on their part made it possible to finish their games on the 11 o'clock draw.

The boys are still raving about the good time they had and especially the courteous treatment extended them by the High River Curlers. Five sheets of beautiful ice were laid out in the skating rink and with warm comfortable waiting rooms and enough food for everyone at any hour of the day or night, Arrowwood curlers will long remember High River and no doubt their next Spiel will see more rinks from Arrowwood.

Twenty-three rinks took part in the High River Bonspiel, thirteen being representative of the towns of Turner Valley, Okotoks, Nanton, Arrowwood, Stavely, and Blackie.

A good illustration of the friendship which sometimes grows up between animals was the attachment which his dog had for the horse which Mr. A. C. Henry, our dray man recently lost. And we wish to extend our sympathy to Mr. Henry in this loss. When the dead animal was taken to the nuisance ground the dog followed. They tried to coax him away, but he preferred to stay with his old friend. So they came on, never suspecting that the dog would follow later. But by evening he had not returned and going to the dump ground they found him there, and with some effort enticed him to return.

Meeting of the Arrowwood Council

A meeting of the Arrowwood Council was held on February 3rd with all members present. Minutes of the meeting of January 6th were read and adopted and correspondence of the month was dealt with.

The following accounts were presented and passed for payment as far as available funds would permit: Jas. Ward $35, Old Age Pension Dept. $6, Bow Valley Resource $6.50, T. S. Board $12.75.

The Mayor reported he had made good progress in the re-organization of the fire brigade and had already secured a reliable man to act as chief and another as assistant, also some excellent volunteers as firemen.

Ladies Attend the Gleichen Bonspiel

The ladies rink that went from here to attend the Ladies Bonspiel at Gleichen last Saturday, won fourth prize in the Grand Challenge and were only defeated by one point in an extra end game. Otherwise they would have won first or second.

The prizes put up by the Gleichen Ladies were exceptionally nice.

ESSAY CONTEST

"Why We Should Use Alberta Made Goods"

Through the efforts of the "Made in Alberta Exhibit" committee of the Women's Institute, prize money amounting to $5.00 has been donated by the Alberta Development Board through the office of the Calgary Board of Trade to be given to students of our local school writing the best essay on "Why we should use Alberta Made Goods." The Institute have turned this amount over to the School Fair Association as two special prizes. The first prize will be $3.00, the second $2.00. Any one enrolled in the Arrowwood school is eligible to enter this contest. The essays will be judged as other school fair entries are judged and awards will be made the same time as other special prizes.

Obituary

Quite a gloom was cast over the town on Monday, when it became known that Gordon O'Neil had passed away. Gordon was well known around here, having attended high school and worked in a local garage. He was well liked by all who knew him. Our sympathy is extended to his widowed mother in Calgary and to his sister at Mossleigh.

W. I. Bridge and Whist Drive a Success

Last Friday evening the members of the Women's Institute sponsored a bridge and whist drive in the Arrowwood Hotel, which was fairly well attended. In bridge, Mrs. Taylor won first prize which was an angel food cake, and Mr. Johnston gent's first, a chocolate cake. In whist, Miss A. Horning won a dressed chicken as first prize, and Miss I. Horning first gent's, a box of candy. A very dainty lunch was served which brought a pleasant evening to a close.

The Institute is grateful to Mr. and Mrs. Horning for the use of the hotel.

"Was there anything unusual about the game?"
"Nothing, except we were there before the curtain went up."

CAUSE FOR ARREST

"These two pugilists are liable to be arrested before they get much further."
"For fighting?"
"No. For being loud and belting each other."

High School Annual Concert, February 19th

A number of years ago the Literary Society of the High School sponsored a series of motion pictures. The electricity for the light in the machine had to be bought from one of the local garages thus making it unprofitable. In 1929 the play "At the Cross Road Store" was presented, the proceeds being used for a Lantern In 1930, there was no program but Mr. Shearer presented a series of illustrated lectures. In 1931 four one-act plays were featured on March 29, the proceeds being the greatest that the High School ever realized.

This year the program is being arranged by Miss Ruby Ward, the Literary president. Four one-act plays are being prepared.

"Managing a Husband" in which the Ministers wife tells a friend how to manage her domineering husband.

"Aunt Betsy's Beau" in which dear old Aunt Betsy, trying for the last time to get her man is mistaken in the actions of two single neighbors.

"Ain't Her Father" a darky comedy in which the young lover is threatened with a breach of promise suit if he doesn't ax her father to let him marry her.

"A Deferred Proposal" in which the young kid brother gets into the usual trouble with the big sisters sweetheart.

The greatest program ever presented in Arrowwood. Come early and get the ring-side seats.

P.-T.A. Met in School on Monday Night

The regular meeting of the Arrowwood P.-T.-A. was held in the school on Monday Evening. Mrs. Lewendon, the President, occupied the chair.

Mrs. M. H. Ward gave a very interesting paper on "School in the 80's."

Mrs. G. Jones gave a reading from the P.-T.-A. magazine.

Mrs. Weins gave a splendid article on "Child Psychology."

Ten girls from Miss McLeod's dancing class exhibited excellent talent in the dance.

Due to the illness of Mr. Johnston, the round table discussion of school matters was omitted.

The feature of the next meeting will be a debate, arranged by Mrs. McLeod.

Valentine Masquerade Dance at Shouldice

The Shouldice Community Club are preparing an extra treat for their dance patrons on Friday, Feb. 12th, when they are putting on a Valentine Masquerade dance. A four-piece orchestra will provide the music. Usual refreshments and admission fee.

"Go after business" has the sound of a good slogan until you remember where business has gone.

Dole or Millionaires?

The Executive of Canadian Clubs has recently sent across Canada J. W. Bready, M. A.; B. D.; Ph. D. (London). Through the courtesy of his host we had the opportunity of having dinner with him and later in the evening hearing his lecture.

Dr. Bready is Canadian born. He taught school before going to Queen's and then to Knox. To further his studies he took a church in New York which had among its members Lyman Abbott. The social science appealed to him and in order to get first hand information on early industrial conditions he went to London where he worked for seven years spending most of that time among the relics of the British museum and the libraries of London. The result of these labors are preserved for us in two volumes "Dr. Barnardo" and "Lord Shaftsbury and Social Industrial Progress." His background is almost perfect, and his knowledge of present England most intimate.

The subject of his lecture was "Unemployment Insurance and the Dole," which we will briefly outline. Unemployment insurance is a thorny subject for in the twenty-one years since the first bill there has been an average of more than one act a year and the ultimate legislation is by no means fixed. In 1909 the report of the Poor Laws Commission said that the day for some scheme of insurance against unemployment had come. History showed that there always has been a reservoir of unemployed, a condition which some economists consider necessary but the Doctor thought the idea cruel. Then there has always been good, industrious people who from time to time have had to seek protection under the poor laws. Hon. Winston Churchill in a brilliant address before the Commons defended the idea and it caught the imagination of the people. In 1910 the president of the Royal Society for the Advancement of Science made it the theme of a two hour paper. As a result in 1911 the first Unemployment Insurance Bill was introduced and passed. It was a purely insurance scheme backed by facts and figures. The premium was met by the worker paying two pence halfpenny weekly, the employer paying the same amount and the government paying a half shilling, and it was limited to workers in certain trades as builders etc. The record was kept by placing stamps in a book which during employment was kept with the employer but in unemployment was placed in the care of the Importance of Little Things

One of the most important considerations in disease prevention is the importance of what appear to be the little things in life. It is upon comparatively simple things that our health is largely dependent. What to do or what not to do with our hands, for example, plays an important part in deciding whether or not we will contract one or another of the common communicable diseases.

Provided our hands are kept in their right place and that they are thoroughly washed at the proper times, there is little or no danger to be feared from them. If, however, they are not kept in their right place, and if they are not washed before meals or before food is handled, then they are likely to be a source of danger.

The germs of disease do harm only after they gain entrance into our bodies. Their usual mode of entrance is through the mouth. In other words what we do, in general, is to eat them or drink them.

This type of disease germ leaves the body of the person who harbours the germs in his secretions. Most of the communicable disease germs with which we have to deal are found in the nose, throat and other parts of the upper respiratory tract. They leave the body in the secretions of the nose and throat. This is why it is that most of the communicable diseases with which we meet in Canada are spread usually by the transference of nose and throat secretions.

The hands of an individual are very apt to become soiled with these secretions when he is using his handkerchief. While it is true that, in most cases, disease germs die fairly quickly outside of the body, yet our hands not only become soiled with our own secretions, but they are reached by the secretions of others in hand shaking and by means of the various articles which we handle so frequently in common with many others.

These disease germs on the hands are harmless as long as they remain there. Our problem is to keep them on the outside and not allow them to enter the body. In order to accomplish this, it is necessary to keep the hands away from the face. Hands that touch the lips or nose; fingers that go into the mouth, may carry disease germs. The hands should not go to the face excepting when the handkerchief is being used.

Another way in which disease germs may pass from the hand into the body is by means of food. Food which is touched by the hands receives whatever is on the hands, including disease germs. If such food, contaminated with germs, is later eaten without having been cooked, the disease germs gain entrance to the body. So we lay down as a rule for self protection and the protection of others that the hands are to be thoroughly washed before food is eaten or prepared.

These precautions which should be made habits of life are simple. They do not cost anything and yet they are worth a great deal as a means of protection.

Labor Exchange Bureau. After one week of unemployment the insured was to draw 7 pence weekly, provided he had made six payments into the fund. And at 60 years of age he drew out as much as he had paid in with 2 1/2 per cent interest.

By the outbreak of the war the accumulated profits of the fund reached three and a half million pounds which surpassed the most glowing hopes of the farmers. In 1916 the munition workers, among whom were many women, were enrolled in the scheme and by the end of the war the fund had reached the sum of twenty millions. After the war many soldiers were out of a job and were given insurance protection with out paying the premium. This was the first step toward dole. The act of 1920 included all workers except domestic servants and agricultural laborers who could not be organized. The next five years saw no less than fifteen different unemployment insurance acts passed. The accumulation funds have gone and the scheme had to borrow from the government. The part paid by the government increased from 25 per cent to 35 per cent of the premium. The insured paid 7 and a half pence weekly and drew 20 shillings weekly. The act of 1931 incorporated the following (1) Refusing forfeited the right of the insured. (2) Six days must elapse between work and payment of benefits. (3) The insured must have been paying into the fund for two years and made a minimum of 30 payments. (4) The man was to draw 17 shilling a week, the wife 9 shilling, each child 2 shillings and unmarried women workers 15 shillings.

Commission after commission had been appointed to investigate changes made against the scheme but in every case no evidence was forthcoming and the principle was always endorsed. And as to American criticism of the dole, the lecture contrasted, the tariff made multi-millionaire which he denounced as insidious and immoral.

The lecturer asked was it possible to escape such action and he felt that it was not. And this led him to refer briefly to the life and work of Shaftesbury. For fifty seven years Shaftesbury worked without a cent of pay and three times turned down cabinet portfolios. Palmerston offered him any position in the cabinet the highest paying $35,000 but after two hours prayer and meditation he refused. He also briefly referred to the work of Barnado whose homes have cared for 110,000 destitute children who have grown up to fill some of the highest posts society has to offer. With a background of the work of these men Great Britain dare not turn down unemployment insurance. And he ventured to hope that in the near future Canada would find some form of satisfactory insurance for her unemployed perials. Arrowwood distinguished themselves at Turner Valley when they held their opponents to a very even game. The game was begun at a fast pace and both teams were playing bang-up hockey. The All-Stars scored the first goal of the evening, but Norton and McCullough combined, evening

Look Before You Leap Girls

1932 is Leap Year. There was a severe slump in the marriage mart during 1931. 1932 gives the ladies the privilege of proposing without losing face.

Ladies, we have no objection whatever to your proposing but don't forget the prerogatives that go with it.

As well as asking for his hand and heart you will get the privilege of running after your sweetie and buying his candy and cigarettes, as well as buying the tickets to movies and dances. Gasoline of course is given away to couples in love, and the upkeep of the car is merely trivial—perhaps your mother will stand for that.

We are willing to put a few things away in our hope chest and might persuade our friends to put on a shower or two for our benefit. We will get a few pots and pans ready, but we expect you to have a home ready to move into, and a honeymoon, of course, is in order. Where we go will depend on the size of your pocketbook, honey, and regarding an engagement ring, some of us don't care for a diamond smaller than a pea. The expenses of the ceremony will have to be looked after, and as long as you have a steady job, we don't mind you proposing.

We don't wish to break your hearts by refusing our hands but look before you leap, even if it is 1932.

The high reputation of Canada for the pacific settlement of disputes with foreign powers is an example that exerts considerable influence in the councils of the League of Nations and indicates that the Dominion should play an important part in the coming disarmament conference at London, says Colonel David Carnegie, C. B. E., noted lecturer on the promotion of peace, who recently sailed for Great Britain aboard the Duchess of Richmond.

Beginning their first Canadian tour, the ski teams of the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge, arriving at Halifax by Canadian Pacific steamship Montcalm, went on via Montreal to Lucerne in Quebec and from thence went to Ste. Marguerite in the Laurentians where they will contest against each other and with Canadian universities. The teams were welcomed at the Windsor station, Montreal by Lord Duncannon, son of the Governor-General, himself an under-graduate of Cambridge University.

The Oxford and Cambridge teams of skiers from the Country picked Canada and the Laurentians this year as the scene of their exploits, in place of Switzerland during the Christmas-New Year vacation, as part of the all-British programme of spending within the Empire. They had enough snow at Chamonix to justify their venture and the success of the trip was placed beyond doubt by the heavy snowfall of January 2.

Creation of a Department of Communications, Canadian Pacific Railway, having supervision over the railway's telegraph, telephone and radio broadcasting services and taking the place of the former Canadian Pacific Railway Telegraphs, became effective January 1. W. D. D. was appointed general manager of the new department, vice John McMillan, retired general manager of the Telegraphs Department. His assistant general manager is E. H. Goodfellow, who succeeds J. Mitchell, retired.

With the retirement of J. C. Bennett, official photographer of the Canadian Pacific Railway, thirty years of a colorful and much travelled career closed. January 1, Mr. Bennett, during his Canadian Pacific experience and in the 18 years that preceded it, took upwards of 40,000 photographs, providing a striking record of the growth and development of Canada. 814
